About RagingBull.com, LLC

- RagingBull.com started by traders Jeff Bishop and Jason Bond in 2011
- One of the most popular stock market trading educational services
- Entered 2019 Inc. 5000 guide, representing the top 5,000 fastest-growing, privately held U.S. companies. Premiering only two places behind Uber, and as the fastest growing company over $10 million in New Hampshire.
- Privately held company with 100 employees

What RagingBull Does

- RagingBull offers trading education services to individual investors.
- RagingBull's students gain stock market education, skills, and resources. Students can learn strategies on how to find and make trades, ways to analyze stock chart patterns, learn ways to manage risk, and understand profit targets within trades.
- RagingBull's trading teachers are traders who offer the ability for students to observe the trader's own real-money trades. Traders provide knowledge and education about their trading strategies, send trade alerts, and provide additional commentary and information on their trades.

- Popular with ordinary investors looking for education about how to navigate investing, how to trade markets and to manage risk.
